The impact of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and countryside to the employment of laborers - Case study of Quoc Oai District, Hanoi

Nguyen Phuong Oanh

Major: Political Economy

Publishing year: 2014

Supervisor: Assoc.Prof.Dr. Mai Thi Thanh Xuan

Aims and tasks of the research:

- Aims of the research:

  From the study, the author analyze the impact of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and countryside to the employment of laborers, especially in Quoc Oai district, it is proposed perspective, the directions and measures to reduce the negative impact of modernization on the employment of labor in the district.

- Tasks of the research:

  Systemize, supplement, develop and further clarify the theoretical bases, practical experience in creating jobs for rural laborers in the process of industrialization and modernization.

  Analysis and assessment of the condition of the impact of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and countryside on the employment of labor in the district from 2008 to 2012, also point out the limitations, weaknesses and the causes.

  Propose perspective, main orientation and some basic solutions to create jobs for rural laborers in Quoc Oai district accelerating the process of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and rural areas in 2020.

New contributions:

Systemize and clarify theoretical bases from the view of political economy of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and rural areas to the employment of laborers, especially the farmers Formalized and clarify the theoretical issues from the perspective of political economics of industrialization and modernization of agriculture, rural areas and its impact on employment of workers, especially for farmers.
Assess the impact of the process of industrialization and modernization of agriculture and rural areas to the employment of farmers on Quoc Oai district in recent years on both sides: positive impacts and negative impacts; measures of local government in creating jobs for laborers, drawn to the limitations of this problem and its causes.

Propose viewpoint, orientation and some solutions to reduce the negative impact of the process of industrialization and modernization and enhance the effectiveness of solving the problem of employment for laborers in the district in the near future.